
HAMPTON UNIVERSITY

THE 155TH ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT

CONVOCATION CENTER

Sunday Morning, May 11, 2025, at Ten O'clock

Academic Heraldry

The history of academic dress reaches far back into the early days of the oldest universities. A statute of 1321 in England required that all “Doctors, Licentiates, and Bachelors” of the University of Coimbra wear gowns. Gowns may have been counted necessary for warmth in the unheated buildings frequented by medieval scholars. Hoods seem to have served to cover the tonsured head until superseded for that purpose by the skull cap. However, representatives of various American colleges and universities adopted a system of academic apparel following a conference at Columbia University in 1895. In 1902 the Regents of the State of New York gave a charter to an organization named the Intercollegiate Bureau of Academic Costume to serve as a source of information and guidance in such matters. In 1932 the American Council on Education authorized the appointment of a committee to approve a code for academic costumes that has been in effect since that year.

Gowns to be used in the colleges and universities have the following characteristics. The gown for the bachelor’s degree has pointed sleeves and is designed to be worn closed. The gown for the master’s degree has an oblong sleeve and is open at the wrist. The sleeve base hangs down in the traditional manner. The rear part of its oblong shape is square cut, and the front part has an arc cut away. The gown is so designed and supplied with fasteners that it may be worn open or closed. The gown for the doctor’s degree has bell-shaped sleeves. It is so designed and supplied with fasteners that it may be worn open or closed.

There are no trimmings for the bachelor’s or master’s degrees. For the doctor’s degree, the gown to be faced down the front with black velvet with three bars of the same across the sleeves; or these facings and crossbars may be of velvet of the color distinctive of the subject to which the degree pertains.

For all academic purposes, the colors associated with the different subjects include some of the following:

Architecture	Violet	Nursing	Apricot
Arts, Letters, Humanities	White	Pharmacy	Olive Green
Commerce, Accountancy, Business	Drab	Physical Education	Sage Green
Education	Light Blue	Physical Therapy	Teal
Engineering	Orange	Public Health	Salmon Pink
Fine Arts	Brown	Science	Golden Yellow
Music	Pink	Social Work	Citron

Honorary Degrees

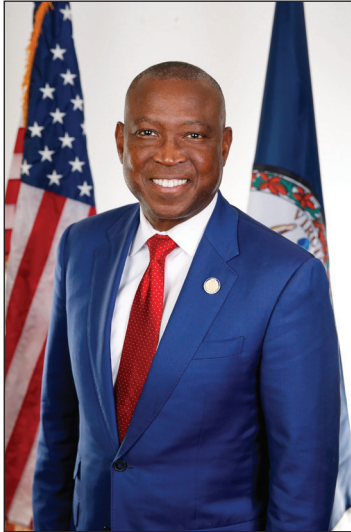

Honorary degrees are awarded by colleges and universities in recognition of scholarly or creative attainments or distinguished public service. Since 1860 most honorary degrees have taken the form of doctorates. Presidents, governors and leaders of the judiciary are often honored as well as educators, clergymen and university trustees. Recognition is also accorded authors, artists and leaders in mass communication. Honorary doctorates usually awarded are: doctor of laws, doctor of humane letters, doctor of divinity, doctor of science, doctor of literature, doctor of letters, and doctor of music.

The 2025 Class Covenant

We, the 2025 graduates of Hampton University, are conscious of our obligation to be both faithful followers and dependable leaders. With all other alumni of Hampton University, we commit ourselves to be worthy sons and daughters of our Alma Mater; to realize in ourselves her high standards of integrity and competence; to fulfill in ourselves her tradition of unselfish service to mankind; to contribute liberally of our energy and our substance to her continued upbuilding and support; and in the days and years that lie ahead, to meet with dignity and fortitude whatever comes to us personally.

The Commencement Speaker

THE HONORABLE DON L. SCOTT
Speaker
Virginia House of Delegates

Born in Houston, Texas, to a single mother of six, Speaker Don Scott is a proud graduate of Texas A&M University. After serving as a Surface Warfare Officer in the U.S. Navy, he pursued his passion for justice by earning a law degree from LSU Law School.

Speaker Scott's career has been marked by both ambition and heart. He was elected to the Virginia House of Delegates in 2019, representing Portsmouth, and quickly emerged as a leading voice for progress. In 2022, he was elected House Democratic Leader, and in 2024, he made history as the first Black Speaker of the Virginia House of Delegates in its 400+-year history. His unanimous election reflected his ability to unite colleagues and his dedication to public service.

As Speaker, Don Scott has been a fierce defender of Virginians' fundamental rights and a champion for families, businesses, and communities. His legislative accomplishments include securing historic investments in public education, expanding access to affordable health care, and advancing policies that create economic opportunities for all Virginians.

For his contributions, Speaker Scott was awarded an honorary Doctorate of Humane Letters from Norfolk State University in 2024 and a second honorary doctorate from Virginia Wesleyan University in 2025.

Beyond his legislative work, he remains deeply engaged in his community, serving on numerous boards and is a lifelong member of organizations such as the NAACP and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Currently he is a partner at Breit & Biniazan law firm, where he advocates for clients as a personal injury attorney.

Speaker Scott is married to Dr. Mellanda Colson Scott, a Norfolk-based dentist. They live in Portsmouth with their daughter, continuing their shared commitment to service and community.

Alma Mater

Hampton: A Song of Service, Love and Loyalty

O Hampton, a thought sent from heaven above,
To be a great soul's inspiration;
We sing thee the earnest of broad human love,
The shrine of our heart's adoration.
Thy foundation firm and thy roof tree outspread,
And thy sacred altar fires burning;
The sea circling 'round thee, soft skies overhead,
Dear Hampton, the goal of our yearning!

Refrain

O Hampton, we never can make thee a song,
Except as our lives do the singing;
In service that will thy great spirit prolong,
And send it through centuries ringing!

Kind mother, we'll treasure the dear happy days,
We've spent here in life's preparation;
Yet go with brave hearts upon our chosen ways,
Of service to God and our nation;
Still wearing our colors, the blue and the white,

As pledge that our fond hearts will cherish;
A love which for thee ever shines true and bright,
A loyalty that ne'er can perish!

Historical Sketch

When the Hampton Normal and Agricultural Institute opened its doors in April 1868, in the days of Reconstruction, listed as assets were two teachers, fifteen students, little money or equipment, and the faith in its principle of “learning by doing” and “Education for Life.”

The principal was Samuel Chapman Armstrong, a 29-year-old Brevet Brigadier General, son of missionary parents. He had been assigned by the Freedmen’s Bureau to help solve the problems of the thousands of former slaves who had gathered behind Union lines on the Virginia peninsula. He founded, with the aid of the American Missionary Association, a school at Hampton to train selected young men and women “who should go out and teach and lead their people, first by example, and in his way to build up an industrial system for the sake not only of self-support and intelligent labor, but also for the sake of character.”

Hampton may well be thankful that in the concept of “Education for Life” – including efficiency, character, and usefulness to society – General Armstrong established a standard, timeless in its appeal and application. Hampton today finds this concept highly adaptable to the changing conditions of life in this century and the likely challenges of the twenty-first century.

The first conditions for admission were simple: “Sound health, good character, age not less than fourteen years and not more than twenty-five, ability to read and write intelligibly, knowledge of arithmetic through long division, intention to remain throughout the whole course of three years and to become a teacher.”

Support in the early days came from philanthropic and religious groups and individuals, from Federal Land-Grant Funds (1872-1920), and numerous other sources. With the help of the Freedmen’s Bureau and northern philanthropists, the school was able to erect a classroom building – the Academy, since rebuilt – in 1871. Residence Quarters, however, continued to be a problem, with the men living in army tents for three years and the women living in barracks until the completion of Virginia Hall. Some of the money for this building was raised by the Hampton Singers, who toured northern communities.

In 1878, a group of Indians was sent to Hampton to be educated with the help of federal funds. These appropriations were continued until 1912. The Indians continued to attend Hampton until 1923, when Indian schools became more numerous and were equipped well enough for Hampton to discontinue its successful contribution to Indian education.

After his death in 1893, General Armstrong’s work was continued and expanded for nearly a quarter-century under the leadership of the late Reverend Hollis B. Frissell. Courses leading to the bachelor’s degree were first offered in 1922. Courses at the elementary and secondary level were dropped gradually, and all resources of the institution were applied to education at the college level. Accreditation as a Class “A” College was achieved during the 1932-33 academic year.

In line with its broadening educational program, the college inaugurated graduate courses in 1928. Course work leading to the Master of Arts degree in education was offered during summer school sessions only. Although discontinued in 1949, graduate study was reactivated in 1956, and for the first time was offered during the regular year as well as during summer school. A Division of Graduate Studies was organized in 1956 as the administrative unit to replace the former Division of Summer Extension Study. Then, in October 1967, following a visitation by representatives of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, a new all-institution faculty committee, the Graduate Council, was organized. The Graduate College was established in 1984. In 1992, the first doctoral degree was approved – the Doctor of Philosophy degree in Physics. The University now offers four doctoral degrees in physics, pharmacy, physical therapy, and nursing.

From humble origins, Hampton University has evolved into a prestigious, nationally acclaimed university that sets The Standard of Excellence in education.
