Gentlemen in White Coats

Gentlemen in White Coats is a student organization that teaches meaningful career and higher education planning to Norfolk Schools. Recently the Gentlemen in White Coats went to Bethel High School in order to present "Dress for Success." The event included guidelines for what to wear for various events such as interviews, graduation, and formal presentations. The young men received hands on demonstrations that showed the appropriate way to tie a tie or bowtie. The students then practiced tying their own respective ties or bowties. Students gained confidence in their appearance and to acquire skills that will benefit them as they progress further in life.

Women with Doctorate Degrees

The Women with Doctorate Degrees is a student organization that promotes higher education for young women. They recently went to Bethel High School in order to present "The Social Butterfly: Branding and Image of Social Media." Their presentation revolved around the idea of creating professional and social personal images. The Women with Doctorate Degrees and the female high school students worked in both large and small groups in order to create the perfect App that would be beneficial for their specific age groups. The activity allowed students to harness their creativity, critical thinking, technical skills, and team work in order to design these Apps. The young women left with the knowledge of what defines a professional social and a personal social images.
